Sowle Criticizes Millett Proposal

President Sowle received favorable reaction from alumni and parents as he took his message to the people of Ohio in a three-day tour (August 16-18) through Columbus, Toledo, Youngstown, Cleveland, Akron, Portsmouth, Cincinnati and Dayton.

The trip turned out representatives of the press, television and radio in every one of the cities visited as Sowle presented his criticisms of the Millett Plan and his counter proposal.

By Peggy S. Black

Ohio University President Claude R. Sowle has issued a critical analysis of the proposed Millett plan for financing higher education in Ohio and offered a counter proposal aimed at holding tuition charges at levels which lower and middle income students can afford.

Sowle criticizes the financing plan, announced by former Chancellor of the Board of Regents John D. Millett, in both its specific proposals and the reasoning behind them.

The Millett proposal calls for reducing tuition at two-year campuses by 29 per cent and increasing tuition at four-year campuses by 90 per cent. The plan also calls for a new state loan fund which would permit students on four-year campuses to borrow—at commercial rates—in order to meet the 90 per cent tuition increase.

Millett has contended that although Ohio taxpayers in the past have been willing to support four years of "fair-price" public higher education, they will not be willing to do so in the future.

Since the public, according to Millett, will abandon comprehensive, "fair-price" education, the state should offer instead "fair-price" education for only two years and only at two year institutions.

UNIVERSITY PRESIDENT SOWLE meets with press to discuss his critical analysis of the Millett plan.

Sowle, in contesting the reasoning behind the Millett plan, emphasizes the demonstrated willingness of Ohio taxpayers in the past to support public higher education.

"This commitment is based on the belief that educated men and women are essential to the advancement of society, and that the state therefore receives a full return on its investment in higher education," he says.

Millett's claim that Ohio taxpayers will not be willing to provide the greater income needed is challenged by Sowle. He notes that of Ohio's 10 million citizens, "well over half have a stake in higher education, past, present, or future.

Millett's contention that students desiring three, four or more years of public higher education should be required to assume most of the cost themselves is rejected by Sowle. "Public higher education in a democracy," he says, "should be moving in exactly the opposite direction."

If a primary purpose of the Millett plan is to use financial constraints to weed out substantial numbers of students after two years, Sowle agrees it would accomplish that result.

He suggests the plan would create a funnel effect in Ohio higher education, with open admissions at the entry level becoming "open exit" at the end of two years unless the student and his family were willing to assume the 90 per cent tuition increase. Money, he says, rather than academic potential, would become the deciding factor.

The impact of the Millett plan upon taxpayers also is questioned by Sowle. Rather than stabilizing state expenditures for higher education, he argues that the plan would cause expenditures to increase.

FUND REPORT

Included within this issue of the Journal is a special insert reporting to all alumni the results of the 1971-72 gift support effort. (See pages 11-26.)

A comprehensive and separately published report illustrating more gift and allocation detail is being prepared for distribution to all donors.

The Millett assumption that two-year institutions would become comprehensive "half-way houses" for students planning to move on to four-year institutions would require the two-year campuses to establish new programs, hire additional faculty, buy more sophisticated equipment and expand libraries.

Also, Sowle challenges the Millett expectation that existing two-year campuses will be able to absorb most of the 170,000 additional students who are expected to enroll at Ohio's public institutions during the 1970's.

Because many of the state's two-year institutions already are operating at or near capacity, the Millett plan, says Sowle, would require "monumental building programs at those institutions while physical facilities at four-year campuses would be seriously under-utilized" due to enrollment losses caused by the 90 per cent tuition increase.

Convinced that the Millett plan would result in a serious loss of freshman and sophomore students on the four-year campuses, Sowle states that either costly special state subsidies would be required or drastic cuts in programs and personnel would have to be undertaken at the four-year institutions.

If the cuts are to be followed by later reinstitution of the programs and hiring of new personnel, this would be "both wasteful and cruel," he says.

In presenting his plan, Millett also contended that narrowing the cost gap between private colleges and public universities would result in the private schools attracting more students, thereby regaining financial stability.

Sowle acknowledges the role played by private higher education in our society, and he is willing to see some state support directed to such schools provided they submit "to certain requirements of economy and efficiency long imposed upon state institutions."

He says he is unwilling, however, "to jettison the concept of fair-price public higher education in order to bail out the private institutions and encourage their continued marketing of a high-cost exclusive product unfettered by either the responsibilities or controls imposed upon Ohio's public institutions."

To replace the Millett plan, Sowle outlines a plan of action to improve higher education in Ohio without resorting to "outrageously high" instructional charges.

He calls for the Board of Regents, university administrators and faculties, students, their parents and interested citizens to launch a concerted drive to make a case for augmented public support of higher education without precipitous increases in taxation rates.

Sowle suggests that the necessary support can be achieved in a variety of ways including a realignment of priorities within the state budget or the inauguration of a state lottery.

He further suggests allowing individual institutions to establish flexible schedules of instructional charges with fees graduated "according to level of family income, according to the level of instruction, or even according to the particular field of study involved."

Realistic figures regarding projected expenditures through 1980 are called for by Sowle so that the desirability of cost reduction measures such as the three-year bachelor's degree program can be assessed.

Sowle further calls upon those in state government to be aware of the actions taken by their predecessors which have led public institutions to expand and increase services to students.

"It is only within the context of past promises and future commitments that an ultimate solution can be reached which will be fair to taxpayers and students alike," says Sowle.

Alumni Publications Announce Major Changes in Concept

As you have already noticed, the Ohio University Alumni Journal has changed its appearance from the traditional 11 x 17 size tabloid format to a handier and more easily read 8½ x 11 magazine-type publication.

Additional changes include an increase in publication frequency from five to six times annually, plus two Ohio Alumnus magazines featuring 32 pages of major articles concerning University alumni, faculty, staff and students.

These dramatic changes have come about as a result of alumni response to a survey taken last year as reported in the February, 1972, issue of the Journal, "A Viewpoint—Yours." In regard to your opinions, it is the wish of the Alumni Board of Directors and Ohio University to make alumni publications not only a more economical investment, but also a more viable and topical news medium.

The alumni survey, taken in September, 1971, indicated that of the alumni responding, 69 percent stated a serious interest in continuing to receive the Journal, 27 percent were moderately interested and four percent were not interested at all. Additionally, 85 percent of the alumni respondents felt the Journal should be sent to all alumni contributing annually to The Ohio University Fund, Inc., while 54 percent stated they would be willing to subscribe in the event that they were not contributors.

With the survey in mind and knowing of the importance of the alumni publication as a communication link between the alumni and the University, the Board, in recognizing the need for having frequent and current news dissemination to alumni within budget constraints, has recommended the following for implementation:

1. As Association publishing expenditures for the Journal are nearly 50 percent of the Association's operating grant and reflect nearly 45 percent of the alumni donations received via direct-mail solicitations (none of which is allocated for publication costs), both the Ohio Alumnus magazine and the Ohio University Alumni Journal will be sent free of cost to:

- a. Alumni who contribute a minimum of $10 annually to The Ohio University Fund, Inc. (Donors for the year 1971-72 who are listed in the attached Alumni Honor Roll will receive all publications for the fiscal year 1972-73. Alumni donors who gave below $10 and nondonors should remit their gifts in the attached envelope to receive the balance of this year's publications.)
 - b. All members of the Trustees' Academy.
 - c. All former alumni life membership subscribers.
 - d. All graduates for one year following their graduation.
2. Two issues of the Alumni Journal will be sent annually (fall and spring) to all alumni, regardless of donor status.
 3. The separately published Annual Report will be sent to all donors.
- By implementing these recommendations, it is the intent of the Association to improve communications and services to alumni of Ohio University while maintaining the objective of keeping alumni publications as effective, informative and relevant as possible.

It is the hope of the Alumni Board of Directors that alumni will recognize and express confidence in the efforts being made by the Association and the Development/Alumni staff by enthusiastically responding with their economic and personal support.

GET INVOLVED — HOMECOMING '72

Our Homecoming plans for 1972 are more exciting than ever before, and we invite you to take an active part.

Ohio University has passed up the traditional "spectator sport" of the Homecoming parade in favor of bringing the alumni visitor back as an active participant in campus life.

Homecoming 1972 offers a new opportunity to all alumni. On University Day, Friday, October 20, alumni will have a chance to reverse roles with students, faculty or staff. You may attend classes, possibly try your hand at teaching or see for yourself who keeps the University running and how.

The application for Homecoming activities (this page) gives you a chance to express your preference.

The evening will end with the carnival atmosphere of a German Oktoberfest complete with bands, booths, beer and bratwurst.

Events for Saturday, October 21, include a luncheon for alumni and the Homecoming game against Virginia Tech, at which Hall of Famers, the Alumnus-of-the-year and alumni award recipients will be honored during the game.

The highlights of the evening will be the Alumni Awards Banquet and the Ike & Tina Turner concert.

NEW EDITOR APPOINTED FOR ALUMNI JOURNAL

Lois Burns

Lois Burns, a Ph.D. candidate in English, has been appointed editor of the Alumni Journal for the year 1972-73. ANNUAL GIVING REPORT 1971-1972

Alumni Support Exceeds 1 Million

For the first time in the history of the Alumni Annual Fund and with the big help of alumnus and Professor Emeritus Dr. Robert L. Morton, '13, alumni gifts have exceeded the one-million mark in gifts and pledges.

For the fiscal year 1971-72 ending June 30, 1972, 4,773 alumni contributed or pledged $1,049,076, an increase of $711,511 over the record $337,565 given last year.

Dr. Morton, who announced the creation of his second Morton Professorship in April, 1972, by giving the University $366,000 toward the $500,000 chair, was joined by 4,772 other alumni in reaching the significant million-dollar plateau.

Less impressive, however, and despite the increased amounts and levels of alumni gifts for the year '71-72, 649 fewer alumni participated in the Annual Alumni campaign. This represents a decline from 12 percent of the total alumni group last year to 9.7 percent for the current reporting year.

The following pages reflect the sources and allocations of gifts and pledges for 1971-72 and acknowledge those individuals and organizations without whose support many of the fine programs identified would not be possible.

Societies Give Gift Impetus

Increasingly during these days of severe fiscal surveillance when higher educational institutions across the land are again tightening their academic and administrative belts, it is with noble consolation Ohio University notes the stability and contributions of her alumni giving societies.

Reactivated and expanded during 1970, the prime source of significant giving has been channeled through the four societies whose members are recognized in this report and who also receive individual mementos or repeat-donor identifying tabs during the year.

ALUMNI HONOR ROLL

The listing by class year indicates the number of alumni within the class, the number of donors and the name of the donor.

Husband and wife combined gifts are recorded as one, and their names are listed together in the year of graduation of the husband. In due respect to our married alumna, it is our wish to credit you in your proper class year and list also your maiden name. Our efforts will be directed toward making this information available for future reports.

We are sincerely grateful to acknowledge those alumni listed within the Honor Roll for their financial support to the many persons and departments of Ohio University who were generously benefited by gifts made available through the Ohio University Fund, Inc. Any omission or incorrect listing of an alumnus' name will be corrected and published in later issues of the Journal on receipt of notification.

The number in the left hand column indicates the number of years each alumnus has contributed since graduation or since our base record year, 1946.

Kircher Appointed

Kircher

National labor leader William L. Kircher was appointed to a nine-year term on the Ohio University Board of Trustees by Governor John J. Gilligan. Kircher, 57 and a University alumnus, succeeds Don M. Casto whose term expired in May.

Kircher, a native of Athens, is the AFL-CIO director of organization. A 1936 graduate in journalism, he was a newspaperman until 1941 when he began working in a defense plant in Cincinnati and helped organize a UAW position to become a vice presidential assistant at the Detroit headquarters. In 1955 he was an assistant organizational director of the newly merged AFL-CIO and was named director in 1965.

Kircher's interest in community affairs is reflected in his helping found in Cincinnati a youth advisory commission to the juvenile court and a coordinating committee for all civil rights organizations. In the union he has instituted staff training and communication programs for union organizers throughout the nation and, most recently, has helped organize agricultural workers.

The Alumni Association honored Kircher in 1967 by awarding him the Certificate of Merit.

FACT OR FICTION

It is not fictional that every Faculty Alumni Challenge Team (FACT) offer which has been extended since the program was initiated and announced in the June, 1972 issue of the Journal, has been accepted by a member of the Ohio University faculty.

And it is more than coincidence that each alumnus challenge has been met with an equal gift from a member of the Ohio University Physics Department faculty. In their effort to build the recently established Physics Scholarship Fund for students majoring in Physics, the faculty have not only been active in encouraging support to the fund, but are making substantial personal commitments to its perpetual endowment.

Accepting the FACT bid of Jon Rotenberg as extended in the June Journal, is Dr. Jerry Adams, Assistant Professor of Physics. Honored by the students of the University in being selected a University Professor for 1972-73, Adams, a native Oklahomian, received his B.S. degree from M.I.T. in 1962, his M.S. from Oklahoma State University in 1964 and his Ph.D. from Florida State University in 1967. A member of the faculty at Ohio University since 1967, Adams has engaged in numerous activities which include the co-authorship of a physics text, lay leadership with the Presbyterian Church and the Athens County Ministry and duties as chairman of the Athens County campaign for George McGovern. Dr. Adams' $10,000 pledge becomes the third physics faculty gift of that amount. A bachelor and city tennis champion, Adams resides in Athens.

By becoming the 133rd member of the Trustees' Academy, Michael P. Kress, BBA '65, has extended the most recent FACT bid which may be met by any member of the faculty or any alumnus of the University. A broker and member of the Management Advisory Board for Hornblower, Weeks, Hemphill and Noyes in Manhattan, New York, Kress has been active in the Alumni Association since graduation. Formerly president of the Pittsburgh chapter, he is currently treasurer of the New York/New Jersey chapter, one of Ohio's largest and most active alumni organizations. A bachelor, "Mike" summed up his feelings toward Ohio University in his transmittal letter, stating, "I have thought of what Ohio University has done for me, and I can't afford not to be a member of the Trustees' Academy"—a sentiment we hope will be shared by others.

Adams

Kress

Conrath

The distinction of becoming the last member of the Academy for the fiscal year 1971-72 goes to alumni husband and wife, Larry F. and Shelley M. Rowland Conrath. Athens residents, Shelley received her BSED in 1965 while Larry earned a BBA in 1967. For the past six years, he has owned and operated a residential construction firm and recently joined the Laura Jones Realty Company as an associate realtor. The parents of three children, the Conraths have restricted their gift for use by the College of Education.

By FACT and the Trustees' Academy, any faculty member or alumnus may place a financial challenge through the Development Office. The Development staff must find a "match" to activate the challenge which may be for support of a particular University project or department or for unrestricted purposes.

Faculty and alumni interested in discussing the FACT program may contact Mr. Jack G. Ellis, Director of Development, at 345 Lindley Hall or P.O. Drawer 869, Athens, Ohio 45701.

SOWLES JOIN TRUSTEE'S ACADEMY

Claude Sowle

Katie Sowle

Kicking off the new 1972-73 academic and university business year in a significant manner were President and Mrs. Claude R. Sowle with their agreement to become the year's first members of Ohio University's major benefactor organization, The Trustees' Academy.

In making their unrestricted $10,000 gift to the Ohio University Fund, Inc., 1971 honorary alumni Claude and Katie have given ample indication of their feelings toward the importance of alumni, faculty, and staff support to Ohio's higher education purposes. As the President and first lady stated, "it is our intention to become more actively involved in the seeking of private gifts for Ohio University and through our membership in the Academy we will be fulfilling our desires to financially assist university programs and hopefully provide an example in giving to others. We definitely will be encouraging our friends and associates to join us."

Hall Of Fame Takes Eight

The youngest ever honored as a member and a football rarity who played in every varsity game for his four years at Ohio are among eight new members elected to the Ohio University Hall of Fame.

Harry Houska, '65, a Bobcat wrestling coach and former national champion grappler is the youngest athlete to be honored. Houska was NCAA 191 pound wrestling champion and a two time wrestling All-American who has brought three straight MAC Mat crowns to his alma mater.

Robert A. "Fizz" Miller, '42, was all-Ohio high jump champion in 1947 and a member of the famed Ohio basketball team of 1941 which was NIT runner-up. He is now an accountant, living in Dover, Ohio.

Harley M. "Dutch" Littler, '24, was all-Ohio halfback in 1923. One of his most dramatic games was that against Columbia in 1921 in which Littler scored both touchdowns and kicked three field goals for a 23-21 upset. Littler is now a retired teacher and coach from Youngstown East High School.

Bunk Adams, '61, was fourth all-time career scorer in basketball with 1,196 points and played on two Mid-American championship cage squads, 1960 and 1961, when he earned honorable mention All-American from United Press International. Adams is presently a teacher and head basketball coach at Toledo Scott High School.

Russell W. Kepler, '32, was all-Ohio one year and all-Buckeye two years in 1929-1931. He also lettered three times in track, and played pro football with the old Cleveland Rams and Boston Shamrocks in 1936. He is a teacher at Marion L. Steele High School in Amherst, Ohio.

New Soccer Coach Heads Seasoned Team

Ohio University comes into the 1972 soccer season with some impressive figures and a list of 9 broken records. They include most games won in a single season, most shutouts in one season, most goals scored in one game, most assists in one game, most goals in one season, and most consecutive wins in a single season.

New soccer coach Dennis Buford is a '72 graduate of W. Michigan where he was captain and MVP with the soccer team and All MAC halfback. Buford feels, "I'll be seeing the game from the players point of view which should work well with this team."

Two All-Americans, Ed Roberts and Andy Smiles return this year. Roberts holds every offensive record on the Ohio books after only two seasons. Smiles was voted the outstanding defensive player in the state last season.

There are five home soccer matches on the 13-game card with top rival Miami opening the home season Oct. 7. Cleveland State comes in Oct. 25, Bowling Green Nov. 4, Davis and Elkins Nov. 8 and Toledo Nov. 11.

versity with a .377 average. During his sports career, Shreffler won three baseball and two basketball letters. He is now an anesthesiologist and chief of staff at the Schoitz Hospital in Waterloo, Iowa.

Ralph Holmes "Gussie" White, '20, was second baseman and captain of two championship teams in 1918 and 1919. He has the second highest batting average for a single season on record at Ohio University, .472, just one one hundredth percentage point from first which led the nation that year. He also played semi-pro baseball in the Hocking Valley and Eastern Ohio leagues. He is retired and currently divides his time between Lafayette, Louisiana, and Nelsonville, Ohio.

These eight honorees bring to 56 the number of athletes honored in the eight years Ohio University has had the Hall of Fame. They will be formally inducted during pre-game ceremonies during the Homecoming game with Virginia Tech, October 21.

Bill Hess Coaches 25 Years

By Frank Morgan

In June of this year, Bill Hess, '47, head football coach here since 1958, marked 25 years in the football coaching business.

"The great thing about coaching is my relationship with the players . . . if I didn't have that, I'd get out of the business," said Ohio's head mentor.

Bill has accomplished many of his goals since coming here in 1958. As he inherited a team that was 2-6-1 in 1957, his immediate goal was to start off with a winning season. He made it with a creditable 5-4 record.

A football player at Ohio University during his undergraduate days, another of Bill's goals was to see his alma mater named to major college status in football.

After going undefeated in 1960 and winning the National College Division championship, Bill saw that goal reached in 1961. In those early years only a point or two here and there kept Bill's Bobcats from completely dominating the Mid-American football throne.

But all has not been roses for the rotund football coach. In 1965, Ohio went to 0-10. "An accumulation of injuries and a lack of talent caught up with us," recalled Bill.

In 25 years, however, Bill has experienced only two losing seasons, 1965 and 1970. But for the tragic 1970 air crash which devastated the Marshall football team, Ohio's final opponent, probably only one losing season would mar his record.

At Ohio, Bill's football teams have won four MAC titles, gone undefeated twice and recorded an 81-54-3 mark, ranking him among the top 25 active major college football masterminds.

What has kept Bill at his alma mater? "Probably the challenging schedules plus a fine staff. My staff has had a camaraderie about it that is unique and yet necessary to keep good men happy."

"My whole philosophy of coaching is that good things come from hard work. Sacrifices must be made. I think football is a great preparation for life. I can look anyone eyeball to eyeball and tell them sincerely that college football is an important part of our overall educational program. I don't say it's the only way to learn life's lessons, but it's a darn good one."

'Cats Control Central Michigan

A solid 82 yard drive with less than three minutes left in the game gave the Bobcats a come-from-behind victory over Central Michigan in the 'Cats' opening game of the season.

After leading 13-0 at the half and 19-7 after three periods, the Bobcats fought off a stubborn CMU fourth quarter attack to win 26-21.

A 44 yard Bevely pass to Juenger gave the 'Cats their first score. Gary Homer booted two field goals, one a 47 yarder, and Bevely again hit Juenger for 39 yards and a TD. The final score of the day came as Bevely dived over from the one.

The Bobcats seemed like a strong and confident team. Rich Bevely played with poise unusual in a sophomore quarterback, and Juenger, Homer, Klosterman, Brown, and Lyons all gave outstanding performances.

Bobcats See Chance For MAC Crown

"For the first time in four years," asserts Bill Hess, head football coach at Ohio University and ranked among the top twenty-five active major football coaches with a record of 81-54-3, "I can truly say that the league title is definitely up for grabs." Hess, with four MAC titles, enters his 15th season at Ohio feeling that "any team in the MAC with the proper breaks could end up on top."

However, a poll of the MAC coaches puts the Bobcats in a first-place tie with Miami. The members of the MAC News Media Association place the 'Cats third behind Miami and Bowling Green. Both favorable predictions seem to be based on the fact that Hess and staff have returned last season's brilliant quarterback, senior Dave Juenger, to pass receiving duties at tight end and have moved Super-Soph Rich Bevely to quarterback. Bevely's freshman performance coupled with the coaching staff's confidence in his abilities and Juenger's proven receiving and running abilities make the Bobcats a definite conference threat.

With Bill Gary and Jim Kozlowski not completing spring practice due to injuries, Hess states that "our running back situation still is a bit up in the air."

With Juenger, Gary, who had a 4.0 rushing average, All-MAC powerhouse Don Caldwell, three All-American candidates, fleet safety Burt Dampier and seasoned players such as Jeff Beams, Greg Lieb, and Ed Bestvina, the Bobcats should be a tough title contender if they can remain free from injuries.
